INITIATIVES BY NRWA

- Less than 24 hours after the district administration declared nine places as 'containment zones' here including Nirvana Country, the Nirvana Country Resident Welfare Association (NRWA) has sought the review of the order, saying the township had no fresh case since almost three weeks, and all previously reported cases and person have recovered post self-isolation.
- Thanks to the efforts Nirvana Country is now out of containment zone.

Containment zone order: residents call for review

Less than 24 hours after the district administration declared nine places as 'containment zones' here, the Nirvana Country Resident Welfare Association (RWA) has sought the review of the order, saying the township had no fresh case since almost three weeks.

"Two persons had tested positive for COVID-19 before March 19 in the apartments and both have now recovered. There have been no fresh cases since then. So the decision to declare the township a 'containment zone' came as a surprise. We have approached the offices of Deputy Commissioner and the Municipal Corporation of Gurugram Commissioner to seek review," said Nirvana Country RWA president Alok Bansal.
